About Me

My name is Bishal Nath, and I am an undergraduate Computer Science student at Pub Kamrup College in Assam. I have a strong passion for programming and web development, which I developed from my early experiences in coding. My journey began from a coding background and I deployed my own projects, including a portfolio website and a landing page.

Currently, I'm gaining hands-on experience in web development through an internship at CodSoft, where I honed my skills in creating and managing web applications
